This phase feeds all of the subsequent activities in the project: configuration, application refinements, infrastructure, integration, etc. and validates that the sequencing, timing, and scope of the project are correct.

Phase 2 – Solution Design and Development. This Phase includes the activities necessary to implement Odyssey. In this phase, Tyler will deliver any application changes that were identified and agreed to in Phase 1 for client review and testing. The base configuration developed and the data conversion will be finalized and tested.

Phase 3 – Solution Testing. This phase involves final system configuration and testing of the application, with converted data, to ensure the system is ready for go-live. It culminates with the completion and approval of User Acceptance Testing.

Phase 4 – Solution Deployment. This Phase focuses on those activities necessary to go-live on the Odyssey solution. Activities in this phase include go-live preparation, end-user training, implementation of the configured solution and go-live transition.

Phase 5 – Project Close-Out. This Phase includes those steps necessary to formally complete and close-out the project.

Project Overview

This Statement of Work covers the replacement of Shelby County's in house developed Court Case Management System, JSS. In conjunction with the replacement of JSS, Shelby County will also be replacing JMS - its current Jail Management System used by the Jail and IMS - the current Inmate Management System used by the Correction Center. The current JMS/IMS/JSS systems are tightly integrated with a custom written interface. The new iCJIS will be integrated using a service Oriented Architecture solution and an Enterprise Service Bus solution (Info Hub). Software AG's webMethods will be the Info Hub solution and Global Tel*Link's DSI Offender Management System will be implemented for the Jail and the Correction Center. New Dawn's JustWare will be used for Case Management by the Public Defender's Office and the Attorney General's Office.

The new Offender Management System, the Court Case Management System and the Public Defender CMS will be part of the Enterprise Service Bus solution (Info Hub) as well as integrated with Shelby County's current document management solution, OnBase. These systems will be so integrated that a single system will not be able to go live without the data exchanges in place from the other iCJIS systems. The timelines of the Court System Statement of Work is dependent upon the timelines of the other iCJIS partners. Any changes by the iCJIS Executive Committee to amend the current "lights out" strategy to any sort of phased approach or timeline extension may result in a change to this Statement of Work.

Project Participants

The project will involve several groups of participants. These groups are defined in the following table:

Group	Composition
iCJIS Executive Committee	Provides oversight to the Project Director for the overall project. Comprised of decision makers from all criminal justice areas, this committee approves all publications, selections, resolves any operational change vs. software change issues, and allocates resources for project support.
Project Director	County employee, appointed by the Mayor, responsible for the day to day management of the overall project.
Court Executive Team	This group consists of the executive leadership of the court to include, but not be limited to, the Court Administrator, Deputy Court Administrator, Court IT Director, and Presiding Judge.
Court Project Team	This group consists of the court's project manager and other core project staff.
Court Technical Team	This group consists of the Court's IT director and other IT staff tasked on the project.
Project Management Office (PMO)	The PMO is a joint group consisting of the Project Managers and Executives from both Tyler and the court.

Project Scope Summary

1. APPLICATION SCOPE

- The project will include the implementation of those Odyssey product centers and features outlined in the Software License Agreement.
- The implementation will include reviewing Tyler's electronic payments portal and payment processing service during the Fit Analysis with Shelby County Information Technology Services and to compare it with utilizing a Shelby County supported electronic payment web service. At Shelby County's direction, Tyler will implement its electronic payments portal and payment processing service or interface with the County's web service, once it is developed.
- The project will implement the current version of Odyssey, with those application changes identified during the Fit Analysis as necessary to support Shelby County's business, as outlined in the functional requirements of the Request for Proposals. All development work identified in the functional requirements of the RFP will be reviewed as part of the Fit Analysis. A quote will be provided for each development item and Shelby County will evaluate each for cost efficiency and a decision made whether to proceed and if the requirement is required for go-live or can be provided after go-live.

2. CONVERSION SCOPE

- Tyler will perform data conversion from Shelby County's current Case management system, JSS, into Odyssey. The Conversion will be performed in phases, consistent with the phasing in the project approach.
- Shelby County IT staff will perform the extraction of data from JSS into files and provide full documentation for the files. Tyler will develop the scripts to allow mapping of data into Odyssey.
- Shelby County subject matter experts will be responsible for review of converted data.
- Shelby County will be responsible for correction of legacy data that may be necessary to permit automated data conversion.

3. INFRASTRUCTURE SCOPE

- Shelby County will provide the servers and network infrastructure necessary to operate the Odyssey application, consistent with specifications provided by Tyler.

4. INTEGRATION SCOPE

- The project will include installation of the Odyssey Translation Bus, which will provide a standardized set of integration data services. These services will be the interaction point between the courts' data system and the County's Enterprise Service Bus (ESB), or Hub.
- Integration services to be provided by Tyler include:
 - Hub Interfaces

- Quasi-real time publishing of data in Tyler defined, NIEM 2.1 compliant messages to the County's Hub/ESB
- Real-time data queries from the County's Hub/ESB to Odyssey in Tyler defined, NIEM 2.1 compliant message formats
- Real-time data-update services (e.g. add hearing, update warrant status) from the Hub/ESB to Odyssey in Tyler defined NIEM 2.1 compliant message formats
- The transport method for these exchanges will be Tyler defined web services
- Direct Exchanges (non-hub)
 - Batch file extracts from Odyssey, run on a scheduled or requested basis to network shares for consumption by other vender's application.
 - The format of these data exchanges will be defined by the county or the vender for which the direct exchange is with
- A list of the integration points that are in scope for this project are included as Appendix C. For the Hub/ESB exchanges, all data translations that need to be done in order to map data from Odyssey to the Hub/ESB and other agencies integrated via the Hub/ESB will be performed by the County's System's Integrator, which at the time this document was written has yet to be awarded. These translations include:
 - Code translations (e.g. offense codes, docket codes, case type codes, etc.)
 - System identifier translations (e.g. unique system specific identifiers such as those used to uniquely identify a party or a case, etc.)
 - Message format translations (e.g. translations resulting from slightly different implementations of the NIEM 2.1 standard)

Project Approach

Phase 1 – Project Initiation & Planning

At contract execution, a Tyler regional project manager and project manager will contact Shelby County's designated project manager. During this time, they will work together to identify key personnel who will to be brought into the project preparation process and the fit analysis, gather information and begin to schedule meetings in preparation for the fit analysis. As detailed in the response to the RFP, the county will procure and install the appropriate hardware needed to support the implementation prior to project kickoff. This activity must be completed prior to the start of formal project activities.

This time is also reserved to develop the project charter and review the statement of work, the requirements specifications, the contract, and additional information available to the Tyler project team. If needed, the project teams will review areas of question and develop action plans to address them before transitioning to Phase 1.

Project deliverables produced during this stage of the project include the Project Charter, the Project Management Plan and the Communication Plan.

Project Kick-Off

Tyler will prepare and deliver a kickoff presentation to the Shelby County project team. This meeting signifies the start of the project. Additionally, Tyler will introduce its implementation methodologies, terminology, and best practices to the Shelby County project team. This will also present an opportunity for project managers and project sponsors to discuss the type of metrics and status reporting to be used to measure project progress and manage change. The project team will leave the kickoff with an understanding of the approaching project activities and their respective roles within each of the activities.

Operational Fit Analysis - Overview

During the fit analysis, the Shelby County project team and Tyler will examine each of the key areas of the project implementation. These areas include –

- Business processes,
- Reports,
- Infrastructure, and
- Required enhancements.

The fit analysis begins with Shelby County completing scenario workflow templates that outline, at a high level, the major processes for the planned case types. Tyler will work with Shelby County team members on this task and then arrange the scenarios into a schedule for the on-site fit analysis.

Prior to the on-site fit analysis, Tyler will conduct an Odyssey Basics training class for all the Shelby County participants who will be involved in the fit analysis. This will give the participants a fundamental understanding of Odyssey and its functionality. It also helps the participants begin to understand how Odyssey's capabilities can be used prior to participating in the fit analysis.

During the on-site fit analysis, a Tyler analyst will demonstrate the use of Odyssey to perform the Shelby County business scenarios. Through this process, the team will jointly determine the "fit" between current practices and Odyssey functionality. The project teams will use the output from the fit analysis to validate the solution, the project approach and the phased delivery of the project plan. At the completion of the fit analysis, the project team will review the findings with senior leadership and determine the resolution to any gaps identified. Project deliverables coming out of this activity will include the Fit Assessment Report and Application Development Plan.

Business Process

Working with the Shelby County project team, Tyler will review the functional requirements and a series of representative cases. Tyler will demonstrate existing functionality in the Odyssey Case Management System using these representative scenarios and functional requirements. During this operational analysis, the joint project teams participate by reviewing the functionality and determining the fit of any proposed solutions.

Proposed solutions and any gaps identified are documented for review and action at the closure of the fit analysis. The outcome of each identified gap will have one of three actions:

1. Implementing a change to the existing practice to accomplish the same objective, without a modification to the software;
2. Identifying a solution that can be accomplished through configuration; or
3. Identifying a modification to Odyssey to satisfy the requirement. Such a modification will have a separate scope and estimate.

The fit analysis results will be reviewed with Shelby County senior leadership, with actions decided for each of the gap items. The results are also prioritized and a determination made as to whether each is to be delivered prior to go-live or can be delivered after go-live. This prioritization allows for planning the development into releases that will support the project schedule.

Reports

Tyler and Shelby County will conduct a review of reports to identify those that are a candidate for Enterprise Custom Report (ECR) development. A plan will be developed that identifies the reports to be developed and which party has responsibility for the development of each report.

Infrastructure

Upon contract award and prior to the start of project fit activities, Tyler will work with the Shelby County infrastructure team to evaluate the current status of the environment. It is an assumption of the project plan that all network and server infrastructure will be in place for the start of onsite fit activities.

Integrations

As part of the operational fit analysis, the project teams will examine each of the integration projects to determine if there are any additional integration points (in addition to the ones listed in Appendix C of this document) that are needed to fulfill business requirements. Tyler will provide a cost estimate for any additional integration points that are needed.

Tyler will provide the county with an Integration Delivery Plan document that details the scope and approach for all interfaces. The County will review, provide feedback, and ultimately approve the document.

Once the delivery plan is finalized, the County and Tyler will exchange message specifications for the various exchanges in order to allow the other to begin development.

Hub/ESB Exchanges

- Tyler will provide the County with specifications, message formats, transport methods, schemas, and examples for the NIEM 2.1 complaint messages that are in scope.

Direct Exchanges (non-hub)

- The County will provide Tyler with specifications, message formats, transport methods, and example data for each of the direct exchanges that are in scope.

Phase 1 Closure

Phase I is completed with delivery from Tyler of the following deliverables –

Deliverable	Description
Project Management Plan	Documents the extent of the work to be done in implementing the project. This will include high level tasks, as well as further definition of the scope of the work to be performed.
Communication Plan	Documents the flow of communication within the project. This includes communication between Tyler and Shelby County resources, as well as those who need to be informed and in what situations.
Fit Assessment Report	Report capturing the results of the Fit Analysis. This report will include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Summary of the Application Fit Assessment Results - Prioritized listing of Application Gaps and estimated development costs - Summary of the Integration Fit Assessment
Application Development Plan	Report detailing application development projects needed and a schedule of development and delivery for these projects This will also include guidance for preparation of a test plan for testing of the application development projects upon their delivery to Shelby County's Test environment
ECR Report Plan	Plan detailing all required Court Reports and identifying which are already included in Odyssey, the ECR reports that will be developed and the party responsible for developing each report.
Architecture Plan	Plan detailing server setup for three environments, Development, Training and Production as well as architect guidance for meeting Shelby County's disaster recovery and business continuity requirements

Phase 2 –Solution Design and Development

Required Development

Working from the results of the fit analysis, the project team will have a set of approved development projects needed for the implementation. Each of the development projects will have a scope and estimate that has been approved by Shelby County leadership.

For each approved development project, the first step in the development process is the preparation of a conceptual process design (CPD). The CPD describes the business problem and how it will be addressed in Odyssey. It “tells the story,” in addition to outlining the technical solution. The goal is to ensure that the requirements have been properly translated into a design that solves the business problem. The CPD is reviewed with the client either through a WebEx session or an on-site. If necessary, modifications are made to the CPD. During the CPD process, the original sizing estimate completed during the fit assessment is reviewed and an updated CPD and estimate are prepared for approval by Shelby County. Certain enhancement requests will require Shelby County to take part in additional enhancement design/review meetings held throughout the development cycle. Because this process adds overhead to the development cycle, it is ideal for larger enhancements or enhancements where the Tyler team feels there is a higher than normal risk of missing a requirement.

The Tyler project manager will communicate anticipated release and review periods with the Shelby County project manager. Additional activities, including configuration, testing, and enhancement approval, will be performed as part of the development release cycle.

Deliverables will include CPD Documents and Phase 1 Development Project Delivery to the Test Odyssey environment.

Integration Development

Tyler, the County, Software AG, and the County's systems integrator will collaborate to develop the integrations in accordance with the Integration Delivery Plan that was developed approved in phase 1 of the project.

Hub Interfaces

- Tyler will develop/configure the NIEM 2.1 compliant messages that are outlined in Appendix C of this document.
- The County's system integrator will perform any data translation that is necessary to map these messages to the County's Hub/ESB, with consulting help from Tyler

Non-Hub Interfaces

- Tyler will develop direct exchanges that meet the format of the opposite vender or agency, unless an alternate approach is determined in the fit assessment.

Configuration

The configuration team will reuse process scenarios and definitions prepared and information learned during the fit analysis as the starting point for the configuration/workflow activity. During this activity, the lead business advisor, Subject Matter Experts (SMEs), and Tyler configuration team will review and document the case processing workflow in Odyssey. Tyler will prepare the teams participating in configuration with a series of workshops. The workshops focus on the areas of configuration, forms, reports, and process review and design. Each workshop has been set up to instruct participants on best practices for performing each of the functions. The purpose of the configuration workshop is to jointly configure the system with the county's SMEs.

Tyler's goal for the configuration workshop is to leave the Court with a 90 percent configured system, feeling confident that the county's SMEs can configure the remaining portion of the application. Remaining configuration typically includes decisions that need more thought or items that are part of the new development. After the configuration workshop, the Shelby County team will feel comfortable working through the remaining decisions with Tyler. It should be noted that the base configuration will need to be completed prior to the beginning of conversion related activities. The configured code base within Odyssey will facilitate an easier conversion cycle and higher quality conversion data reviews.

Tyler's approach for forms, reports, and process review and design takes a little longer. These workshops communicate the major and important points, but the workload documenting each is more labor intensive and is extended over a longer period than the base product configuration.

For the code configuration, forms, reports, and process review workshops, the project managers will be diligent in monitoring the output of the sessions. At the end of the configuration/workflow design milestone, the teams will have successfully configured the Odyssey CMS and defined selected critical processes. Additionally, the county team will be confident in its ability to support and make changes to the configuration to meet new business needs.

Conversion Development

Initial conversion activities will begin shortly after the fit analysis is complete. Tyler and Shelby County will assemble a high level conversion team that will be in place throughout the project.

To help Tyler understand the different data conversion conditions, Tyler will conduct a data conversion mapping workshop. Like other workshops, this has a formal structure to help both teams understand all the elements involved with the conversion. In addition to understanding the structure and conversion techniques, the workshop enables the teams to organize their team structure formally, deciding who is doing what and when.

Tyler has developed a world-class Conversion Toolkit Framework, which has been expanded and enhanced based on hundreds of our successful conversions. The Framework is kept current with Odyssey releases and service packs. It has tools that allow for validation of the data and also to verify that no data has been left behind.

The Conversion Toolkit Framework supports all the Odyssey products and Tyler has incorporated functions into the Framework and the core Odyssey product to facilitate mass or individual party merge capabilities. This is critical when dealing with data coming from legacy systems that are not party-based. Without this capability, the new system is unable to provide the true benefit of a party-based system to the user.

Tyler has a dedicated conversion team, separate from the Odyssey product or integration developers. The conversion team has two objectives: performing successful conversions to Odyssey and maintaining and enhancing our conversion tools. This is the only focus of the 17 database administrators on our conversion team. Tyler fully recognizes that data conversion is critical to the success of any justice implementation and requires the dedication of professionals focused on this challenge.

Conversion Cycles

After the initial conversion push, the conversion team will go through conversion cycles massaging data, reviewing data, and comparing data elements in the Shelby County legacy system with same data elements in Odyssey.

To complete the conversion cycle for the go-live, the conversion team will work with the business team performing a complete data conversion and data validation. To complete this task, the teams will complete several cycles completing the following tasks for each cycle:

- Execute conversion scripts pushing data to configured site
- Review data with lead business advisor and subject matter experts
- Document data exceptions and business rules to be applied
- Document schema mapping, assumptions, and decisions applied to converted data
- Identify and document source data to be cleaned up prior to the next conversion run
- Update scripts as needed to influence different or additional data behavior

It is very common to find issues with the conversion in its initial cycles. As the issues are identified, the teams will update scripts and conversion routines as necessary to create the desired output. The teams will repeat this cycle until the joint teams agree that the conversion routines and the physical data have been validated for production. This iterative process will recur until the data is production-ready. Historically, our conversion teams run three to four cycles before the business has approved the data conversion for the go-live transition. Once the data has been validated, the team will stage the conversion routines and any procedural instructions for the transition to Odyssey.

The physical data conversion development will be performed at the Tyler office in Plano, Texas. This minimizes the need to secure and utilize network resources to perform the bulk of our conversion programming.

For each conversion push, we will push the data to a conversion environment maintained on the client's servers. This will allow for subject matter experts and end users to compare converted data locally with their existing application data and verify its accuracy.

For the initial data push, Tyler staff will be on site to conduct a joint data review. Included with this review will be training on documenting of conversion issues to facilitate efficient and accurate data fixes by Tyler conversion staff.

The last push will be focused primarily on any data elements dependent on custom application development (i.e., judgment information, etc.).

Training Plan

Training/implementation teams will be formed that consist of both Tyler and Shelby County resources. The joint training/implementation team will be responsible for developing the training plan, building training materials that incorporate procedures and expected process changes, coordinating training schedules, and performing the training.

Phase 2 Milestones

Milestone	Description
Functional Approval of Development Projects	Functional approval by Shelby County's Project Manager for all application development projects needed for the implementation of Phase 1
Agreed upon	Acceptance tests for development and interfaces

Milestone	Description

Phase 3 - System Testing

After conversion is complete, the joint project teams will begin performing the final configuration. This is similar to the activities performed over a go-live weekend. These final configurations include updating items such as the case number pools, next receipt numbers and judicial pool paths.

Using predefined scenarios and business workflow documentation, the business teams will work to test end-to-end processes through the system. Each area of the application is carefully tested; results are collected and reviewed. If issues are found, they are documented and addressed. Mitigation procedures promptly begin to address any items prior to the start of end user training.

Special attention should be given to this activity. Best practice traditionally has been to treat this activity as a mock go live, simulating the upcoming milestone go live event.

The goal for end user acceptance testing is a full end to end test cycle. This testing will verify that all aspects of the project (configuration, forms configuration, security configuration, conversion, development, and integration) are working seamlessly. Testing cycles should be completed on both converted and new case data, and verify the system is operating at the expected level needed to support an end user go live.

This activity serves several purposes. Collectively the teams have performed a mock go-live. This will give the project management team a solid view of activities and issues that will arise over the go-live weekend. Running the predefined scenarios through the new site, the lead business advisor and SMEs are able to validate end-to-end functional processes including any integration packages.

Milestone	Description
User Acceptance Testing	Completion and approval of business process testing, including verification of configuration, conversion, development, and updated business process procedures for Phase 1
Court Interface user Acceptance	Site acceptance of all Court interfaces included in Phase 1

Phase 4 – Solution Deployment

Go-Live Preparation

A successful go-live begins with detailed planning of the activities, including timeframes, and decision points necessary to ensure predictable results. This reduces the risk involved in the phase transition to Odyssey.

To arrive at this point, Shelby County and Tyler will have successfully completed each of the following project milestones:

- Required enhancement development
- Required integration development
- Solution configuration
- Process review and/or design
- Base data conversion
- Data conversion and data checkout
- Integration validation
- End-to-end functionality review and validation

Training

After successfully completing this milestone, the project team will formally agree to move forward with the planned go-live. Once the go-live is scheduled, the first activity will be to train the subject matter experts. Using the training plan previously reviewed and approved, the project management team will initiate the training activities.

Training materials and the course plan are organized through a series of modules that focus training on the subject matter experts' specific job functions.

Once the subject matter expert training has been completed, Tyler's training staff will proceed with end user training. This training will focus on the specific job functions of the end users, and tailored to the business processes of the court.

Training is administered to minimally impact the day-to-day operations of each office. The schedule and plan are created with area supervisors so that the operation of the office can continue during training.

Go-Live Transition

To assist with the actual go-live transition, the project management team will add personnel to the project team. In coordination with Shelby County, Tyler will engage additional project implementation personnel, conversion personnel, integration specialists and/or support personnel. Additionally, Shelby County may be interested in having key personnel on call through this period. The composition of the project team will need to be determined closer to the go-live, after review of special conditions that may be present, and based on the availability of Shelby County personnel to fill these roles.

The weeks prior to and after the go-live will be planned in detail. This includes activities regarding configuration, environments, data conversion, operations, court calendars, and personnel. The Shelby County and Tyler project managers will establish the go-live plan and the method by which its status will be communicated to all involved.

For every system go-live, Tyler strives to maintain business continuity and minimize downtime during regular business hours. One preferred strategy is to start the process on Friday and finish by Monday morning, allowing for maximum use of non-business hours for go-live activities.

For this scenario, data conversion run times are known well in advance, and go-live planning is adjusted accordingly. The data conversion starts after the legacy system is shut down for processing on Friday. If possible, it is preferred to shut down earlier on a Friday and hold over some of the work for processing in the new system. Even if the normal Friday close time is adhered to, some work needs to be retained for processing on the new system over the weekend.

System validation and checkout should be conducted immediately following conversion completion, generally on a Saturday. A reduced Shelby County workforce will be available for data entry in all areas of the case types on Sunday, around mid-morning. This allows for maximum focus on procedural, workstation, security, training and system issues, and these can be addressed without the public standing at the counter waiting. Effectively, the system is live on Sunday and available to the clerk staff. The clerk staff should complete all work Sunday that was manually processed or logged by the clerk staff the previous Friday when the legacy system was unavailable. This allows the clerk staff to focus on new document filings Monday, reducing or eliminating backlog from the shutdown the previous Friday.

Deliverables will include a Go Live Transition Plan.

Milestones will include Shelby County Odyssey Implementation Completion.

Milestone	Description
Shelby County Implementation Completion	Acceptance / acknowledgment of completion of Odyssey Implementation Project activities by the Shelby County Project Manager

Appendix A – Project Schedule

Appendix B – ECR Reports

Tyler Technologies is partnering with Memphis based Customized Solutions Company (CSC) to provide Shelby County with assistance in the area of Enterprise Custom Reporting (ECR) development. Carl Person is the managing partner at CSC and is a LOSB vendor in good standing with Shelby County. As a sub-contractor to Tyler Technologies during this engagement, the services CSC provides will allow Shelby County staff to focus on the implementation and migration to Odyssey. After the implementation is complete, CSC will continue to provide value to Shelby County by offering a local resource to support the custom reports that were created as part of the project and any future reports.

The specific list of reports to be developed as Enterprise Custom Reports has not been identified at the time of this Statement of Work and will be defined during the Fit Analysis. This SOW includes a total of 1100 hours for the ECR effort to be used as defined in the table below -

Description	Estimated Hours
ECR Training	24
Consulting and Support	76
Forms Development	1000

Once the reports are identified, the actual hours will be adjusted as required through a Change Order.
